

MANIFESTO:

LIRAN MORAV

(CR Vice Presidential Candidate)

Hi there! My name is Liran Morav. I'm a 2nd year undergraduate student reading for Politics, Psychology and Sociology. With your kind approval, I would like to run for the position of vice president in this term's CR elections. Included is a brief FAQ in case you want to know more:

Q: What is the position of Vice President all about anyway?

A: Good question! For me, the CR VP is there to ensure that college members' college experience is fun, enriching, sociable and non-exploitative. The VP's role in the CR committee is to ensure that these principles are upheld in every decision taken, whilst promoting constructive dialogue between the college members and the CR committee. The VPs door must always be open to suggestions on the part of college members. If elected, I will work to fulfil this vision.

Q: That sounds nice, but do you have any concrete plans for the college?

A: As a matter of fact, I do. For instance, have you ever asked yourself why you keep paying £2 per tomato at Sainsbury's? I sure have, which is why one of the initiatives I hope to push forward if elected is to bring a local farmer to college to sell his/her produce at your front door and at non-exploitative rates! Another idea: why not get the college reception to sell stationery to the students? Wouldn't that be better than queuing at Ryman's? Finally, by far the most important plan I have in mind is none other than to promote and cultivate YOUR ideas and initiatives!

Q: Hmm...interesting...but do you have any credentials?

A: In my opinion, the only credentials necessary for the VP position are enthusiasm towards the college and the motivation to make things happen! But if box-ticking is what you're after then you will probably be interested to know that before joining Eddies I managed a youth movement in France, founded a student union, and organised leadership seminars in Israel, France and USA. Also, last summer I was the centre manager of a summer language school for students of all ages and nationalities. I should also note that over the past year I have served as the elected undergraduate student delegate to the University's psychology department. All of these positions required team-work skills, organisational abilities and a flair for getting things done.

Q: Fair enough, but what have you ever done for college?

A: Although I was never a part of the CR committee, I have assisted the CR in various undertakings. For instance, I helped organise pot-luck dinners for students who stayed in college during the winter holidays both this and last year. Also, during Freshers' week I acted as a college buddy and organised St Edmund's first-ever jogging tour.

ANYWAY, IF YOU STILL CANNOT DECIDE – PLEASE EMAIL ME ANY QUERIES (LM501@CAM...). I WILL BE HAPPY TO MAKE YOUR DECISION EASIER (EITHER WAY...)!
